OUR SERIES OF SERMONS.

We have been preaching all winter to the people about what they should do to cure proumonia. We have said over and over again-and now repeat it once more-there is but one way to cure it, namely, by using Benson's Capcine Plasters. There is reason to believe that thousands of persons have sensibly taken our advice and been saved from serious and painful illness, and, possibly, from still more lamentable conse-

We have reminded the public that there are scores of other We have reminded the public that there are socies of our plasters in the market, the best of which are poor enough, and the most of them not worth the paper the seller wrars them in. We have said everything short of actually mentioning names to keep the people from trusting them to relieve pain or cure disease. And we have reason to think our warnings have not been wholly unhecided. We say again that Benson's Plaster, and no other, is really worthy of confidence. If the reader doesn't understand or remember this fact it is not our fault.

Now, that the weather has come on suddenly warm, with the prospect of a hot, and probably a sicaly summer, we have one more word to say. We are in more danger from summer colds than from cholera, even if that scourge should pay us an unwelcome visit. And Beasen's Plaster is the best thing in the world for summer colds.

These colds may not end fatally, but one does not want to These coids may not end fatally, but one does not want suffer with them in any case. As this valuable remedy may not be easily procurable in remote country places we advise persons going out of town for the season by and by to slip half a dozen in their trunks.

QUAKER TESTIMONY.

QUAKER TESTIMONY.

Mrs. A. M. Dauphin, a Quaker lady, of Philadelphia, has done a great deal to make known to ladies there the great value of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Cempound, as a cure for their troubles and diseases. She writes as follows: "A young lady of this city while bathing some years ago was thrown violently against the life-line and the injuries received resulted in an ovariant tumor which grew and enlarged until death seemed certain. Her physician finally advised her to try Mrs. Pinkham's Compound. She did so, and in a short time the tumor was dissolved or caused to slongh off, and she is now in perfect health. I also know of many cases where the medicine has been of great value in preventing miscarriage and allevisting the pains and dangers of childbirth. Philadelphia ladies appreciate the worth of this medicine and its great value."
